August, 2009

Best wishes to all of the members of the Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps as you compete in the 2009 Inter-Beach Races. This is a wonderful opportunity to display your outstanding lifesaving skills and talents.

This year, as we celebrate the 85th anniversary of Hither Hills and the 80th anniversaries of Jones Beach, Heckscher and Orient Beach State Parks, we remember the rich history and the many contributions that the Lifeguard Corps has made to our agency by protecting our visitors who swim at all state park facilities. This summer has been an especially challenging year with operating restrictions and rip currents, but you have risen to the challenge and managed all of the obstacles that were placed before you.

I continue to respect the dedication you display as you perform the day to day lifeguarding activities to keep our park visitors safe. You truly are among the finest lifeguards in the nation.

Congratulations and good luck!

Sincerely,

Carol Ash

Fellow Lifeguards and Friends,

On behalf of all the members of the Beach Representatives, including the staff at Jones Beach and Robert Moses State Parks, I wish to thank everyone involved with making the 2009 Inter-Beach races another successful event.

Your race committee, with the assistance of the Long Island State Parks Supervisors at Jones Beach and Robert Moses, worked tirelessly since last summer to make these events something to be proud of.

The competition this year was great, and the participants, those who assisted in set-up, party planning, our sponsors, and our many spectators were all instrumental in making the Races of 2009 something to remember.

I ask the members of the Corps to thank and support our many sponsors. Without their financial assistance, our races would not have occurred.

I speak for the entire Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps in congratulating our competitors, our planners and our assistants for a job well done.

I look forward to seeing all of you at the bigger and better 2010 Races!

Tom Donovan
President, Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps

JUDGE JOSEPH F. LISA
New York State Supreme Court (Ret.)

To the Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps:

I am, again, proud to be a part of the Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps Races Journal.

The success of the 2008 Races Journal was due to the dedication and hard work of the Journal Committee, most especially, Ed Costigan of Fld. 6. Ed's enthusiasm about this project set in motion a momentum that was quickly embraced by the rest of the Corps and the resulting journal truly conveyed the family spirit of people who treasure the gift and privilege of protecting the public at New York's beautiful ocean-front State Parks. I have no doubt this year's journal will likewise, be a terrific success.

And in the face of budget cuts and the closing of fields during a summer of extreme hurricane-driven surf conditions, the men and women of the Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps, once again, rose to the occasion and saved the lives of all who found themselves in trouble.

Like the men and women of our Armed Forces, our Police Officers; and, our Firefighters, you are our first-responders every time you run a rescue. And you certainly proved that this year when you were asked to do more with less.

I am, always have been; and, always will be proud to say that I am a Jones Beach Lifeguard - once a Jones Beach Lifeguard, always a Jones Beach Lifeguard!

Congratulations to all of you on a job well done in 2009.

Good luck,

Judge Joseph F. Lisa
Justice of the New York State Supreme Court (Ret.)

Watching Over Us

- ⚓ State Parks on Long Island boast 490 lifeguards. Eighty are women.
- ⚓ There are 250 lifeguards who work at Jones Beach State Park. Their average age is the mid 30's.
- ⚓ To become a Jones Beach lifeguard, one must swim 100 yards in a pool in less than 75 seconds, run two-thirds of a mile in less than six minutes, and complete a timed ocean swim that involves running into the surf, swimming beyond the breakers and around several buoys, and running onto the beach.
- ⚓ The most rescues by lifeguards came the summer of 1991 at the central mall beach, one of the most popular sections of Jones Beach. More than 3,000 people were rescued from a dangerous riptide.
- ⚓ There are up to 5,000 rescues a year on state parks in Long Island.
- ⚓ Some 6 million visitors a year descend on Jones Beach. Up to 50,000 visit on weekdays; up to 120,000 on weekend days.
- ⚓ The one-day record for attendance at Jones Beach was July 4, 1995, when 274,000 people sought relief from the heat.
- ⚓ The Jones Beach lifeguard crew from Field 1 was voted "Best Crew of the Decade" in 2000 and was leading in votes for "Best Crew of the New Millennium" right up to its closure in 2008.

The Legend of Ben von Pentz (The Mentor of Field 2)

I know you were happy
When he took you away
Because you were running the path
That very day
Less than one week
Before the test
The test for the job
That you loved best
And it's just not right
Nor is it fair
Your loss has left me
In true despair
Although we were friends
For two short years
I'll never forget
Your words to my ears...
Anytime there are waves
Give thanks and give praise
Be kind not rude
Have a good attitude
Kayak like a maniac
It pays to be a brainiac
When in doubt
Get the AED out
Be on time, watch your waters
Ladies & gents watch your daughters
Have confidence in your stride
Life is short enjoy the ride
Don't watch life as it passes by
Speak to women eye to eye
Complimenting is ok
Carpe diem! Seize the day!
I remember the first sit
Can't forget the last
Or the stories you told
Present and Past
There are a few things
That I will never share
Secrets for you and I
Up on that chair
So when I row that boat
I'll think of you
And the waves we rode
And the flag we flew
Of all the things you taught us
Those were just a few
You'll always be a mentor and a legend
To your boyz at Field 2

Dennis Angermaier was a lifeguard for 37 years, with 20 of them as the Lt. at RM III. The three things Dennis loved were his family, the beach, and teaching. One of his dreams before passing away from a short battle with cancer in 2001 was to have his wife Jean set up a scholarship fund For worthy lifeguards. Jean has done this and the RM III crew is once again happy to help her in Keeping his dream alive.

Reggie Jones 1944 - 2007 Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps

Newsday Wednesday July 6, 2005

IT HAPPENED

1944; Reggie Jones Becomes a Jones Beach Lifeguard

Albert Reggie Jones began working as a lifeguard at Jones Beach in 1944, at age 17. By the summer of 2004, he had become Jones Beach's longest-working lifeguard as well as the nations. Jones started at 44 cents an hour after competing with 150 other candidates during three weeks of unpaid testing and training that included swimming, rowing, running and practicing rescues. Born in Manhattan, he moved to Baldwin with his family at age 5. The champion wrestler graduated from Baldwin High School in 1946, then attended Cortland State Teachers College. Jones taught social studies in Floral Park and Garden City for 35 years, working as a lifeguard every summer and becoming the head lifeguard in the mid-1970's. In 1950, he married a woman who worked at Jones Beach as a cashier. This season marks the Bellmore resident's 65th year as a Jones Beach lifeguard. He is shown here in a photo from 1944-Cynthia Blair

ON LONG ISLAND

Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps. History

Jones Beach opened to the public in 1929 about the time of the stock market crash and the beginning of the economic depression that would not end until W.W.2 began about 11 years later. To those who lived in driving distance of the beach, it was a wonderful and inexpensive way to vacation during those economically difficult days of the 1930s. The park was, and still remains a wonderful thing for those living in driving distance. It would be impossible to attract most of the public to swim there if there was not an excellent lifeguard system in place.

The first lifeguards to work at Jones Beach when it opened were transferred from Hempstead Lake State Park. Needless to say there was a great difference in saving an occasional swimmer in a lake as compared to the situation involved in rescues made in the ocean of the North Atlantic. In the 1930s, swimming was at the West Bath House Ocean and pool, the Central Mall, the East Bath House, Field 9, and Zach's bay.

In the 1944 Mr. Reggie Jones (The beach was not named after Reggie, he would like you to know) joined the Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps. and we are proud to say he is still with us. is still active today. He is affectionately known as "Jurassic Park" by some of the younger lifeguards.

The new hire test until the 1960s was a 66 yard swim in the West Bath pool, an ocean swim of about 300 yards and a cross chest carry in the pool. At this time the job was only available to males and you had to weigh at least 150 pounds and stand 5 foot 8 inches tall.

Until the 1960s, you worked 8 hours a day 6 days a week. Fields 1,2,6, West End and the East Bath pool were built from the late 1940s on . Robert Moses had one field with about 6 lifeguards who ferried out there each day until the bridge was completed in the early 1960s.

The Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps was known as the Jones Beach Patrol with a single captain, one lieutenant, one boatswain and two senior men at each facility until the late 1960s. For a time in the 1950s there were two assistant captains. Therefore, with the long work week and smaller and fewer facilities until the 1960s there were comparatively fewer lifeguards than there were afterwards. This made for a closer knit more personal operation, where practically everyone knew everyone else. This was enhanced by the fact that the main drinking and dining establishment that the Jones Beach Guards frequented was the Jones Beach Hotel in Wantagh. They allowed you to run a tab and cash your checks there, so needless to say it was a home away from home and there were many guards to be found there almost every night, and on cloudy and rainy days when we were knocked off with two hours pay.

In the late 1960s, the job qualifications were opened and females could work in calm water positions and about 12 were hired. In the 1970s, the job qualifications were again expanded and females could then work on the ocean and the height and weight standards were eliminated. Until the 1970s there were enormous sandbars and practically all patrons were non-swimmers. Very big rescues were commonplace across the beach fronts and there were two kinds of lifeguards, the swimmers and the land animals. The swimmers were obviously competitive swimmers and the land animals were the football player and wrestler types that would just bull their way through the heavy surf and undertow. There was plenty of work for all!

After the 1971 lifeguard strike, a lot of benefits came our way that we did not have before. Decent uniforms, decent pay, decent hours, and a decent union to see that we were more protected and better treated than prior to the strike. Throughout the years, the Jones Beach Lifeguard Corps has continued to grow in strength and size. We are currently the largest lifeguard agency on the East Coast consisting of 500 lifeguards. Throughout the years we have kept the traditional lifeguard emblem bearing the Jones Beach Lifeguard logo, the seahorse and anchor. Being a Jones Beach Lifeguard isn't just a summer job, it's a lifestyle and its being a part of a lifesaving tradition that dates back to 1929.
